'Global Solidarity, Shared Responsibility' is the theme for this year's World AIDS Day, commemorated today Tuesday 1st December.

The activities for the occasion were launched by the Principal Secretary for Health Dr Bernard during a workshop aimed at building capacity for HIV & viral hepatitis prevention during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Reading the Minister's message, PS Valentin reminded health workers that as healthcare providers they need to ensure that care continues during the response to the pandemic and that HIV services are not affected.

While measures taken to respond to the pandemic nationally is seen to have impacted access to HIV services such as educational outreach and testing, the Ministry of Health and its partners are working strongly towards reinforcing these services as part of continuity of care programmes.
